FAIR ENOUGH

By
WESTBROOK PEGLER

I may be haunted by this subject but I say it is an outrage that any racket should be permitted to exclude skilled American citizens from participation in the industrial war effort and worse that a government which cries for man power and skill refuses to do anything to remove those responsible and worse, maintains a political prostrate over the guilty men. Particular examples are scoffed away as isolated cases. Their isolation does not mean that they are few. It is only the citation of the isolated case that the facts can be shown.

Here is such a case, a letter from a hoisting engineer.

"I believe you may be able to help me," this man writes with pathetic optimism, because nobody who waits to help him can and nobody who can help him will lift a hand.

"I have been employed as a hoisting engineer by the steel works for the last 20 years. I have made application twice in local International Operating Engineers, for membership, both times being rejected. This is one of the letters I received:

"This is to advise you that your application for membership in International Union of Operating Engineers, Local No. 1, has been referred to the committee of the local executive board and a report having been made to the membership, pursuant to our constitution, I have been directed to inform you that you have been rejected and may reapply after 90 days."

"I again made application and received the same reply. As I believe this would go on, I look for work. I could have had several jobs, but it is hard for me to work, as they say it is hard to get men familiar with the work, but they cannot put me on because the union would tie up the work."

"I have an honorable discharge from the United States marine corps. I served in France during the last war. I went to the politicians, but it is too hot for them. I am to report to the Philadelphia navy yard, but don't know if the union will let me work."

Now it should be noted that although that marine veteran says he

WILLKIE ASKS

'EVERYWHERE'

Believes Time At Hand
For All-Out Attacks
By Allies

CHUNGKING, Oct. 7.—(P)—Wendell Willkie called upon the united nations today for an "all-out armed offensive everywhere" and said he expected to dedicate his life to urging a post-war world "where all men can be free and with governments of their own choosing."

"It is my personal opinion that the time has come for an all-out armed offensive everywhere by all united nations," Willkie said in a statement on his tour of 13 nations. "We are ready to deliver some knockout punches if I can believe what I have seen with my own eyes."

At the press conference Willkie said this is his own statement, my own personal statement.

"That goes for all my public statements," he continued. "I speak for no one else and no one else ever speaks for me."

In answer to questions he said he had been commissioned by President Roosevelt to do certain things and that in anything connected with them

MEAD SAYS NAVY
GAINING ON ENEMY

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 7.—(P)—Senator James M. Mead of New York asserted today that the United States navy is gaining very rapidly on the submarine menace and his Florida colleague, Senator Charles O. Andrews, observed that this nation's navy has not lost a battle in the war.

They made their statements while in Miami to observe trials for two gun-sited craft submitted by the nation's small boat industry for possible use by the navy for submarine chaser work. Mead is a member of the general appropriations committee, the Truman committee to probe the war effort, and the small business committee. Andrews is a member of the naval affairs committee.

"I am very proud of the way the navy has handled everything since Pearl Harbor," said Senator Andrews. "We now have a unity of command, a wonderful synchronization of the air force, the surface navy and the army. Of course we lost territory due to the surprise attack of the Japanese, whom we trusted until their actual attack. We lost the battle of the Philippines. But neither the army nor the navy has lost a battle since we began to gather our forces, and the navy has not lost any battle in which it was the major participant."

He pointed to the three major engagements with the Japanese by the United States navy—Macassar Straits, Coral sea and Midway—asserting: "We won them all."

Both senators agreed that the war picture looks better today than it ever has.

After-War Punishment Of Axis Planned

Roosevelt Says Offenders

America To Cooperate With Britain And
Other Governments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—President Roosevelt asserted today the United States was prepared to cooperate in establishing a united nations commission, after the war, for the investigation of war crimes of the axis and said it was the intention to mete out just and sure punishment to ringleaders responsible for the organized murder of thousands of innocent persons and the commission of atrocities.

It is the intention of the United States, he said in a formal statement, that "the successful close of the war shall include provision for the surrender to the united nations of war criminals."

With a view to establishing the responsibility of the guilty individuals through the collection and assessment of all available evidence, Mr. Roosevelt said, this government is prepared to cooperate with the British and other governments in establishing a united nations investigating committee.

Declaring that it was not the intention to resort to mass reprisals, the chief executive predicted the number of persons eventually found guilty undoubtedly would be extremely small compared to the total enemy populations.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early, who distributed Mr. Roosevelt's statement, failed to answer a question as to whether Hitler and Mussolini were two of the ringleaders whose surrender would be required.

Mr. Roosevelt recalled that he had said last August 21 that the government constantly was receiving information about "barbaric crimes" being committed by the enemy against civilians in occupied lands, especially on the European continent.

The commission of these crimes continues, the president declared in today's statement, the first of which follows:

"On August twenty-first I said that this government was constantly receiving information concerning the barbaric crimes being committed by the enemy against civilian populations"

Standley To Give Roosevelt
Information On Complicated Situation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—Steps toward clarifying misunderstandings and removing complications that may have arisen in the British-American program of aid to embattled Russia were under way today.

President Roosevelt announced at his press conference yesterday that United States Ambassador William H. Standley was returning from his post in the Soviet union to report, and Moscow dispatches said the ambassador was bringing with him his military and naval attaches—in other words, his experts on questions of lend-lease deliveries to Russia and on all aspects of the critical military situation there.

At the same time the president told reporters he had scanned the headlines reporting Wendell Willkie's recent demand for a second front but had not thought it worthwhile to read the stories.

In addition to Ambassador Standley, Mr. Roosevelt said, several other American diplomats, including Laurence A. Steinhardt, the ambassador to Turkey, would return to Washington

SPARES WIFE GRIEF
AND GETS GOOD NEWS

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 7.—(P)—Jack Spears couldn't decide whether to tell his wife about a telegram from the navy department reporting their son, Donald, killed in action. Just a few weeks before, shock caused by the death of their 13-year-old daughter, Barbara Jean, had almost caused Mrs. Spears' death. Her husband feared the new blow might have a disastrous effect.

Finally, he decided to keep Donald's death a secret for a while. Tuesday another telegram came. It read:

"Arrived Charleston navy yard okay. All is well, Donald."

Part One: Monroe Navigation School Accepts Bastrop Scrap

This is the first instalment of a story in several parts, telling how the citizens of Morehouse parish, the officers and men of the Monroe AAF Navigation school and a Monroe junk dealer have gotten together on the problem of one of Uncle Sam's principal shortages—scrap metal.

Scene I is laid in Bastrop, behind the courthouse, where the Morehouse Parish Civilian Defense committee has collected 55 tons of metal scrap. Other scrap heaps in Bastrop bring the total to 78 tons.

A few days ago, the committee, headed by T. H. Miliken, parish agricultural agent, offered the scrap to the Monroe Navigation school. It was accepted, and is being sold to the Lieber company, Monroe scrap dealers.

Here the first army trucks, seen in background, arrive to tackle the job of moving the scrap.

WAR VICTORY

BY ECONOMIST

Dr. Palyi Says Tide Turned
In Favor Of Allies
In September

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(P)—Dr. Melchior Palyi, international economist, said today that September marked the turning point of the war in favor of the allies and that the allied victory would be achieved in "about a year."

Germany's war effort would collapse, Palyi predicted, if 25 per cent of her production could be halted by repeated bombings of her industrial sections, while she is attempting to conduct major activities on several fronts.

In an address prepared for delivery to a wartime emergency conference of the National Restaurant association, Palyi declared that "when Germany's expansion was stopped during the last month, the turning point came."

"Germany was halted in Egypt and the outcome of the battle of Stalingrad matters little in the final analysis, because Germany's advance into Russia will be effectively stopped by the winter economic adviser to the Reichsbank and Deutsche bank in Berlin. He came here in 1933 as visiting professor and research economist at the University of Chicago."

He told the conference that a "second front" already exists and, although inactive, "it serves a valuable purpose in aiding Russia."

"The second front is in western Europe where Germany is keeping

BRITISH AGAIN RAID
TOBRUK AND BENGASI

CAIRO, Oct. 7.—(P)—British patrols raided and destroyed the garrison of an Axis strong point Monday night while R. A. F. bombers maintained attacks on the shipping and port facilities at Tobruk and Bengasi, a British communiqué said today.

"The site of the strong point raided was not announced, but it presumably was in the German-Italian front west of El Alamein."

"In the battle area yesterday our fighter-bombers, fighters and light bombers were active, attacking enemy transport vehicles and camps in all sectors," said the communiqué, issued jointly by the R. A. F. and British Middle East headquarters.

"Vehicles were set on fire during low-level machine-gunning attacks. The fighter-bombers also started fires. Long-range fighters successfully attacked the enemy seaplane base at Bomba (Libya), setting one three-engine seaplane on fire and severely damaging others."

Other aircraft attacked an Axis convoy southwest of Crete and shot down one of its aerial escort and damaged two others.

These and other operations were said to have cost the British four planes.

Scrap Drive Gaining Momentum Each Day

School Children Of Area
Seeking Every Piece Of Junk Metal

School children of the city are scouring every nook and corner for scrap metal, and if there's any left when these youngsters get through, it'll be nailed down. And even then, they may dig it up.

Children in every school in the city, parish and parochial systems are participating in the great scrap drive. They're primarily interested in getting the scrap for our war material, but they're also competing with other schools of the state for $3,800 in prizes. One list of prizes the greatest amount of scrap per capita, and another to the individual school which collects the greatest amount of the metal per capita.

The colored schools likewise are participating wholeheartedly. On Friday these negro schools will be dismissed at noon and the children will thoroughly canvass half of the colored section in a search for every piece of scrap available. Then a week from Friday the second half of the negro section will be combed. A vast amount of scrap is expected to be uncovered by the colored pupils and a huge bonfire will celebrate the completion of the drive at the Monroe Colored High school.

Meanwhile, first steps toward removing the abandoned street car rails were taken yesterday at a meeting attended by Ray Pittman, salvage expert of the special projects division of the war production board, W. D.

(By Associated Press)

It was like a roll call of the nation with states, cities and little whistle-stops chanting: "Look what we're doing."

America, deep in the job of gathering every bit of steel and iron junk for ravenous war mills, today poured in heartening reports on progress in the 21-day special metal salvage drive led by the nation's newspapers.

The reports, although unofficial and incomplete, showed the country really bending an elbow to get old metal started on the way to its eventual abode in planes, ships, guns, tanks.

Those alone have collected so far in states alone have collected so far in the campaign—which started September 28 and ends October 17—an estimated 260,000 tons of scrap, or 520,000,000 pounds if figured at the rate of 2,000 pounds to the ton.

Those figures were released by the national newspapers' united scrap metal drive committee in New York which said it was receiving hourly information showing the total metal salvage was becoming tremendous.

Pennsylvania was leading so far on a tonnage and per capita basis, according to the committee, with 283,770,000 pounds collected, or 28.6 pounds for every man, woman and child in the state.

The other nine of those 10 reported states—with the job they have done so far listed first on a per capita basis in pounds and then by tonnage—were: Michigan, 152-40,000; Maryland, 13-12,834; Virginia, 10.5-14,000; Missouri, 9-17,000; Oklahoma, 6.9-7,706; West Virginia, 6.5-8,218; Maine, 6-2,530; Iowa, 5.8-1,368; Massachusetts, 5.5-12,900.

Here are some other parts of the story, showing estimated collections so far in other states or towns or cities: Alabama—Mobile, 500,000 pounds, or 6 pounds per capita; Auburn, about 455,922 pounds, or 98 1-2 per capita. Arizona—20,200,000 pounds on reports

Nazis Launch
Terror Reign
In Trondheim

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(P)—Nazi Commissioner Josef Terboven and new contingents of the German secret police enforced a reign of terror in the Norwegian province of Trondheim today after executing 10 prominent Norwegians and arresting an estimated 700 more in an effort to stem a rising tide of sabotage, reports to Scandinavian circles here said.

A state of emergency has been proclaimed in Trondheim and a coastal strip 400 miles long. Terboven announced severe punishment would follow the slightest insubordination. Terboven had been in Trondheim only a few hours yesterday when a Nazi firing squad claimed the lives of the first ten victims.

Among those executed, Stockholm dispatches said, were Henry Gredtisch, will know theater manager; Harald Langhelle, city councilman; a social democratic editor, and Per Lykke, shipowner.

Norwegian circles here said a bank director, two lawyers, a civil engineer and a building contractor also were among those executed. The property of all the victims was confiscated. All were said to be from Trondheim, Roeros and Oranger.

Announcing that the new measures were instituted to "break the sabotage threatening the country's supply sys-

BIG TAX BILL

La Follette Would Tax
Corporation Incomes
50 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—The senate rejected, 75 to 9, today a proposal by Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, to boost corporation taxes $219,000,000 yearly by increasing normal and surtax rates to a combined total of 56 per cent.

It acted after La Follette's proposal provoked an assertion by Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, that too stiff taxation would wreck the success of the war.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—The senate faced its first major decision on the big new tax bill today with Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, demanding a stiffer increase in corporation levies.

La Follette offered an amendment designed mainly, he said, to lift the combined normal and surtax rate on corporation incomes to 50 per cent.

With the normal rate unchanged at 24 per cent, the house proposed a 21 per cent surtax on net incomes above $50,000, or a total of 45 per cent. The senate finance committee reduced the surtax rate to 16 per cent, for a total of 40 per cent.

Under his amendment, La Follette said, the surtax would be 26 per

FRENCHMEN WARNED
BOMBINGS COMING

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(P)—The BBC broadcast a United States warning today that French people should evacuate places where work is being done for the Germans because of increasing American air attacks on France.

The warning followed another night raid on Osnabrueck, German industrial and railway city, by heavy bombers of the R. A. F. last night—the second on the enemy homeland in a row and the fourth in six nights.

This hint of more United States air smashes on occupied France came also as the house of commons was looking into a comparison of losses for the R. A. F. and the United States Flying Fortresses, of which but two have been lost in more than a dozen daylight raids.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7.—(P)—Capable of carrying a total of 400,000 barrels of fuel to shortage areas, 21 river cargo barges of the Federal Barge lines are being converted by the petroleum plant corporation into petroleum carriers for charter, J. S. Brodie, lines chief engineer, said Tuesday night.

The conversion will cost approximately $32,000 per barge and contracts for the work already have been let, Brodie said.

Mountain Pass

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 7.—(P)—The mile-high gap in the Owen Stanley range apparently was firmly back in allied hands today with Australian advance forces, still on the offensive, pushing on toward the downslope to the Japanese base at Kokoda across the mountains from Port Moresby.

The chance of a Japanese stand in the high ridges seemed hourly more remote as dispatches from the inland New Guinea battlefield reported the Australians continuing their cautious, steady advance on the trail of the Japanese who once pushed within 32 miles air line of Port Moresby before being outflanked and hurled back.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—Apparent Japanese desperation to regain—seemingly at any cost—the Guadalcanal air base in the Solomons from which they were driven by United States marines portended today a new struggle for control of the strategic island.

Striving to halt mounting and costly losses inflicted on their air and navy strength by American planes operating from the base, the Japanese under cover of darkness have enlarged their Guadalcanal forces but at the further expense of 11 planes and a damaged heavy cruiser.

The landing of enemy reinforcements was reported by the navy yesterday to have been accomplished on October 3 and 4. In doing so they raised their total losses in the two-months old battle of the Solomons to 230 aircraft destroyed and 30 vessels sunk or damaged.

On another vital front to the west, an Allied land and air offensive hourly reduced the Japanese threat to the important Port Moresby base on New Guinea's southeast coast. Pushing northward over mountainous terrain only recently held by the enemy,

CROP ACREAGE

Government Wants Increased Output Of Most Farm Products

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—Faced with increasing war demands for food, the agriculture department has drawn up tentative production goals for the 1943 crop season calling for even greater acreages and output of most farm products than was requested under the record 1942 production program.

Officials who preferred not to be named said increases would be asked for despite prospects that farmers would have to get along with less manpower, machinery, fertilizer and other facilities. Needs of the armed forces, and the Allies, particularly Russia, were said to be much greater than had been expected a few weeks ago.

As a hedge against the possibility that farmers might be unable to meet the 1943 goals, the department was working on plans to reduce civilian consumption of a number of essential foods. These plans would be designed to make existing supplies last longer

BATTLE IN 44TH DAY

Germans Reported To Have Large Air Forces
In Steppes Area

By Henry C. Cassidy
MOSCOW, Oct. 7.—(P)—Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's counterdrive between the Don and the Volga bit deeper today into the north flank of the German wedge into Stalingrad and Russian dispatches said the Germans were falling back desperately upon trench warfare in an attempt to halt the onslaught and save their positions.

At Stalingrad, whose fate hung in the balance, the Germans hurled whole new divisions, fresh from the march, into the bitter street fighting against outnumbered defenders who sagged before the impact but surged back and held through the 44th day of siege.

Dispatches from the battlefield said that across the steppes northwest of Stalingrad the offensive was firmly in Russian hands in a relief attack of increasing scope against hastily-dug German trench lines studded with half-sunken tanks as strong points.

At one point along the line the Russians reported killing 1,200 Rumanian troops and capturing others who tried to hold a small village, and in other sectors the counter-thrust was declared to be gaining ground and improving the Russian position.

The army newspaper Red Star said a dangerous situation developed as the Germans reached the depth of an industrial settlement, but heavy Soviet counterattacks cleared much of the area. The Red army men were reinforced.

103 CANDIDATES

Four State Governors, Four Former Governors Are

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—Four state governors, four former governors, three house members, two former senators, two women, and two radioactors—one a singer of cowboy songs—are among the 103 candidates for the United States senate, including 28 incumbents, to be voted on November 3. One of the governors and one of the former governors also have been senators before.

The list of nominees for the 33 seats in the new senate and two 60-day terms in the old includes 30 minor party designees in 20 states. Both of the women candidates represent minor parties. Maine elected a Republican senator, Wallace H. White, Jr., on September 14.

Seven southern Democratic senatorial candidates, including five incumbents, have no major party opposition. They are Senators Bankhead, Alabama; Russell, Georgia; Ellender, Louisiana; Maybank, South Carolina; Glass, Virginia; and John L. McClellan, Arkansas, and James O. Eastland, Mississippi.

The governors seeking senate seats are Ralph L. Carr, Colorado Republican, running against Senator Johnson, Democrat; George A. Wilson, Iowa Republican, seeking to unseat Senator Herring, Democrat; Harlan J. Bushfield, South Dakota Republican, opposing former Democratic Governor

ON ADVISORY GROUP

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 7.—(P)—Thirty-seven persons selected from civic, business, industrial and educational groups in the state have been asked to serve on a Louisiana wartime education advisory committee as an aid to the state department of education. Superintendent of Education John E. Cox announced Tuesday night.

Scheduled to hold a first meeting October 21 in the state capital education department education offices, the committee will be asked to consider educational needs of military forces, of industry and of local communities, to make recommendations for administrative and curricular adjustments in schools and colleges, encourage the maintenance of state educational forces on a high level of efficiency in line with wartime objectives and post-war adjustment period needs and to assist in bringing a better general understanding of the relation of education to the war effort.

Tom Berry, and former Senator Matthew M. Neely, West Virginia Democrat, running against Chapman Revercomb, Charleston Republican.

Former governors besides Berry trying for the senate next month are C. Douglas Buck, Delaware Republican, who is opposed by E. Ennals Berli, Wilmington lawyer, winner of the Democratic nomination in state convention over Senator James H. Hughes; Elmer Benson, Minnesota, and Francis P. Murphy, New Hampshire.

Benson, a Farmer-Laborite who also served for a while in the senate, is running against Senator Joseph H. Ball, Republican, and Ed Murphy, Democrat, for the six-year term. Murphy, a former Republican who turned Democrat in the recent primary, is trying for the seat now held by Styles Bridges, Republican.

Representatives, Raymond S. McKeough, Democrat, Illinois; Joseph C. Casey, Democrat, Massachusetts, and James G. Scrugham, Democrat, Nevada, won senatorial nominations among seven house members who tried.

McKeough, completing eight years in the house, is backed by the Kelly-Nash organization in his race against Senator C. Wayland Brooks, Republican, who is supported by Governor Dwight H. Green and the state G. O. P. organization.

Forty-three-year-old Congressman Casey, another fourth term incumbent, wants the seat of Republican Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., while fifth-term Scrugham, who defeated 36-year-old Senator Berkeley L. Bunker in the primary, has Cecil W. Creel as his Republican opponent.

The former senators seeking comeback are George McGill, Kansas Democrat, and James O. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat. McGill, ousted by Senator Clyde M. Reed, Republican, in 1940, won easily over four opponents in the primary to win the right to oppose the veteran Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, next month. Eastland, who served 88 days in the senate in 1941 by appointment, unseated Senator Wall Doney in a run-off primary which was equivalent to election.

Both women candidates have tried for the senate before. They are Mrs. Alice Burke, Richmond, Communist party candidate against Senator Carter Glass, veteran Virginia Democrat, and Mrs. Levert Dwyer Shivers, Norwood, Ga., mother of six children, running as an independent against Senator Russell, Georgia Democrat.

The radio men seeking political careers are Glen Taylor, Pocahontas, Idaho, cowboy songster, and Foster May, 37-year-old Omaha, Neb., announcer. Both are Democrats. Taylor is running against Republican Senator John Thomas, who beat him two years ago for the unexpired term of the late Senator Borah. May has veteran Senator Norris, Independent, and Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican, as opponents.

As to the war in the Pacific, Dr. Pali said that once Germany "was out of the way," the war with Japan could be regarded as a "major colonial expedition." He likened it to the Boer war. Then, he pointed out, "took the English two and a half years to win, although there never was any doubt as to the eventual outcome."

"That, however, was before the day of airplane warfare," Dr. Pali said, "and an air borne assault may result in a comparatively quick allied victory."

G. E. JOHNSON LUMBER CO., EMPLOYING MANY, IS DECIDED ASSET TO TRADE TERRITORY

PROPRIETOR HAS HAD LIFETIME OF EXPERIENCE IN BUILDING MATERIALS BUSINESS

Just how important an industry is to a community is hard to determine. To merely state that a certain number of people are given employment is far from adequate in defining its importance. Only when a community loses an industry do the people fully realize its significance and its value, directly or indirectly, to not only the community, but to themselves individually.

It behooves us all to lend our support to the industries in our village or city. This expression of our appreciation may be lent in many ways, in our votes for fair taxation of their activities, in the promotion of ever better work and transportation facilities and through purchasing all possible of their products.

Founded a little over a year ago by Mr. G. E. Johnson, the G. E. Johnson Lumber Company of Calhoun, La., is owned and personally managed by him. His father before him having been in the lumber business, he has had a life-time of experience in this specialized endeavor.

One hundred and forty people are employed on regular payroll by the firm and many more indirectly.

Every department of this house is in charge of an expert, men who know what conditions are and how they should be met. The management and entire force of employees are working to have the best experience in buying and thoroughly understand trade conditions.

Close cooperation is maintained by the G. E. Johnson Lumber Company with building supply firms throughout the state as well as with the various builders and contractors.

Mr. Johnson is to be commended upon the fine quality products they distribute and upon their modern business methods. They are deserving of the patronage and cooperation of the people of this their home territory.

Do you know two outstanding jobs for which the G. E. Johnson Lumber Company has furnished materials?

Fair Enough

has 20 years of experience in his line, the rejection of his application for the membership necessary for employment takes no consideration of his ability and gives no reason for the refusal.

He is just turned down and his skill and experience can't be used even on war work, and he can't earn a living, being forbidden by a union whose international president is a rich Chicago union leader, having a large country estate, staffed with servants, in rural Illinois, a winter villa in Miami Beach and a stable of racing thoroughbreds. The dominant vice-president is both a union leader and a contractor and thus a large-scale employer using men from his own union.

The president is William E. Maloney and the vice-president referred to is Joe Fay, and Mr. Fay is a Democratic or New Deal politician of great power in the Frank Hague machine in New Jersey and an active local political cohort of Mrs. Mary Norton, the chairman of the Labor Committee of the house of representatives in Washington. This committee is so strongly predisposed toward union leaders, including racketeers, that it is now customary to route around it all bills intended to remedy the situation described by the victim of the case here cited and other abuses by unions, lest they be blocked by Mrs. Norton. Mr. Fay is an important sponsor of Senator Smathers of New Jersey and an influential agent of Mr. Hagerty who, in turn, is one of the big regional political powers of the New Deal party.

Although it is supposed to be a crime against unionism to hold a position of union leadership and, at the same time, engage in business as an employer of labor, particularly the members of one's own union, Fay enjoys the friendship and approval of William Green, the president of the A. F. of L., who, in turn, is courted and consulted by the government in matters of labor policy and labor distribution. Kicked out of his union and out of the A. F. of L. once for this offense, Fay scrambled back and is now operating in his dual capacity more brazenly than ever and with the knowledge of Mr. Green and of all the agencies of the government in Washington having to do with labor.

It should not need pointing out that a man in Fay's position is empowered to control competition in his branch of construction work in his zone of influence by withholding labor from competitors on arbitrary or fictitious grounds and to shake down competitors for graft as a price of permitting them to hire his subjects. And he may lead his own construction jobs on war works with gang politicians having no skill, to the arbitrary exclusion of skilled men such as the author of the letter here quoted.

All this is a wrong which is poisoning the country, but the worst of it is that the government party is the political patron of the men responsible and has stubbornly defeated every effort to bring them under control.

BIG STRUGGLE EXPECTED FOR GUADALCANAL

Australian troops approached to within four miles of the Owen Stanley mountain pass. General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced last night, still without major opposition.

Word that MacArthur himself was in the field came from a dispatch from "somewhere in New Guinea" disclosing that he was on the island October 3 and presented the United States army's silver star award to Vern Haugland, Associated Press war correspondent who had been last 43 days in the jungle after being forced to parachute from a disabled army plane.

The Australian advance toward the enemy's main positions in New Guinea was accompanied by Allied bombing of Japanese airfields in Buin and Buka in the northern Solomons. Medium bombers blasted Buka's runways, dispersal bases, buildings and anti-aircraft positions, causing fires and explosions.

A fresh Japanese effort to recapture the Guadalcanal airbase from which the American air attacks stem, appeared imminent as the enemy's efforts to reinforce their scattered detachments on the island continued.

The Nipponese cruiser, accompanied by a force of destroyers engaged in landing operations, was spotted by navy and marine corps dive bombers. At least one hit was scored on the vessel, the navy reported, and while one United States plane was downed the crew was saved.

A force of navy and marine torpedo bombers renewed the attack at daybreak, found the cruiser still smoking from the earlier bombing and drove in two torpedoes. Meanwhile, American pursuit planes bombed and strafed enemy troops and supply dumps on Guadalcanal.

Nine Zero fighter planes of a force of 30 accompanying a small group of Japanese bombers on an attempt raid against United States Guadalcanal installations were downed by seven Navy Wildcat bombers. Anti-aircraft batteries accounted for two more. One American plane was lost but the pilot was saved as the defenders turned the enemy bombers back without an explosive being dropped.

Risking of the larger ships instead of the usual barges and smaller craft to land Japanese reinforcements indicated to naval men that the enemy may have materially strengthened his island units for an effort to retake the airbase which not only dominates the Australian-American lifeline but also serves as a base for Allied operations against Nipponese positions for miles around.

SURGICAL DRESSING MATERIAL RECEIVED

The Red Cross has received a new shipment of surgical dressings and women who have been working on this project are urged to report to their respective units Thursday morning and resume work.

Red Cross officials pointed out the urgency of this project and asked that everyone who was formerly working in the surgical dressing division report back promptly Thursday morning.

NAZIS LAUNCH TERROR REIGN IN TRONDHEIM

tem." Terboven was reported to have declared:

"My generosity is finished. Nothing will change my uncompromising decision to smash the enemy's manipulations and provocations."

A Stockholm radio report intimated that hostile action had been directed against the German army and that efforts had been made to sabotage the Trondheim-Mosjoen railway.

A power station at Tanrem also had been dynamited, shutting off power and forcing the Germans to stop work at a naval base under construction, London reports said. Shipyard workers were forbidden to leave the yards.

A score of followers of Nazi-backed Premier Vidkun Quisling were arrested on charges they were not sufficiently active for the Nazis, Scandinavian circles here reported.

The chief of German police in Oslo, who went to Trondheim with Terboven, declared: "Every attempt to disturb public peace and security, about all every plot against peaceful work and every attempt to hinder supplies, transport and the information system will be punished."

The tide of resentment against German domination swept little Denmark into the storm and Danish sources here expressed the fear the nation would vanish soon into a German federation of North sea countries.

Stockholm dispatches to a London newspaper said the Germans had demanded from King Christian X. control of the Danish police and key posts in the ministry of justice. Other reports said the Danes had declined a German invitation to become a "model state" in the Nazi Europe.

Always treated with special deference by the Nazis because she offered very little resistance to the German invasion, Denmark appeared destined to give up what little independence she still possessed, Danish circles feared.

The Oslo radio reported an increasing number of clashes between 1,100 Danish volunteers now on leave from the Russian front, where they have been fighting for the Nazis, and Copenhagen residents. Danes feared the nation's police functions might be turned over to these Danish Nazis.

Meanwhile the inter-allied information committee reported that food stocks of the occupied countries had been plundered so thoroughly by the Germans that many people were on a starvation diet. The Belgians, for example, were reported living mainly on bread and turnips. Throughout the occupied territories, meat is almost non-existent, the report said.

Willkie asks for offense 'everywhere'

he was the president's representative and acted accordingly.

"But when I speak for myself," he said, "I'm Wendell Willkie and say what I damn please."

In his plain spoken statement, Willkie added: "In the United States we have talked a lot to the world about our production figures," and added that "some of our allies have seen very little of our actual arms."

"It is only natural for them to wonder where our boasted production has gone. It is only natural for them to wonder how much longer they will have to eat like children at the second table."

"Some of the countries I have visited look on the map like the last stop on the line. But in terms of the blows they are delivering to our enemies they should be the first stops."

Willkie issued his statement only a few hours after he had an untended six-hour conference with Gen.issimo Chiang Kai-Shek, his fourth day in the house of the Chinese leader.

China and Russia, his statement declared, have each "contributed to the death of the axis aggressors some 5,000,000 of their finest men in casualties."

"Each has engaged and held with heroic tenacity powerful and ruthless enemies. It is both just and wise for us to see to it that they secure an equitable share of our arms production."

Willkie said a clear and simple statement should be made assuring the people of Asia that the present war means "an end to the empire of nations over other nations."

It is the world's job, he said, to help colonial peoples who join the united nations' cause "to become free and independent nations" and he asked for "firm timetables" under which they could work out the governments of their choosing.

In all the 13 countries he has visited, Willkie said he had found four common desires:

First, they all want the united nations to win; second, they want an offensive now; third, they want a chance after the war to live in liberty and independence; fourth, they all doubt in varying degrees the readiness of the leading democracies "to stand up and be counted for the freedom of others after the war is over."

In a broadcast to the Chinese people last night in which he stated his desire for a post-war world of free men "with governments of their own choosing," Willkie said it was America's duty to see that China became completely free.

Germany puts new troops into battle forced by night and new fighter planes flew to their aid.

The Germans were declared hurled from the streets, houses, gardens and orchards by garrison forces led by elite guards. Explosive and incendiary bombs caused considerable damage to houses of the settlement and many civilians were among the casualties.

Location of the settlement was not announced, but many of the Soviet factories in that area are several miles from the city. It is obvious that it was not any of the workers' communities along the Volga, because no dispatches mentioned the river.

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's shock divisions maintained ground-gaining pressure against the strongly entrenched Germans northwest of the city, dispatches said. This area likewise has never been specifically defined, other than as embracing a region of the steppes between the Don and the Volga.

Numerous tanks are operating in this area and small detachments are playing an ever bigger role in the fighting, Red Star said.

Nazi infantrymen were reported crammed into trenches dug in the steppes. The government newspaper Izvestia said the Germans had buried literally hundreds of burned-out tanks for use as pill-boxes.

The Germans were reported to have strong air forces in the area. Izvestia said Red army anti-aircraft batteries accounted for 10 in a day.

The noon communiqué said fierce fighting continued in the Stalingrad area in this 44th day of the siege.

"The enemy is drawing up fresh forces and hurling them into battle immediately after marching," it said.

"In another sector," the war bulletin said, "our artillery fire disabled seven German tanks, destroyed two mortar batteries and wiped out about a battalion of enemy infantry."

Cadet Faulk Will Wed Virginian

Cadet Gilbert Faulk Will Wed Miss Jean Carrington Hartsook

Of paramount social interest today is the announcement made by Mrs. Eugene Hartsook of Roanoke and Ashland, Va., of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Jean Carrington, to Cadet William Gilbert Faulk, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clarke Faulk of this city.

Miss Hartsook is a graduate of Chatham hall. She also attended Hollins college, the University of Miami at Coral Gables and the graduate school of Columbia university.

Cadet Faulk is a graduate of Washington and Lee university, where he was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He also attended Louisiana State university. At present he is attached to the quartermasters officers' candidate school at Camp Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulk will have Sunday morning for Ashland, Va., to be present at the marriage of their son. The wedding will take place October 16, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. C. P. Owens extended the hospitality of her home to members of the Lenwil Home Demonstration club when they met in regular session.

Plans were completed at this time for sending exhibits to the state fair in Shreveport next month. It was also decided at this time to piece quilts and place them on sale. Proceeds will be used to purchase war stamps and bonds.

Members of the Lenwil Home Demonstration club entertained fifteen young cadets from the A. A. F. Navigation school at dinner recently. Following the serving of a home-cooked dinner the cadets were entertained with a program of music and contributed by Garland May and Curtis Shell. A splendid talk on "The Qualities Religion Puts Into Life," was made by Mrs. James Eden.

Members of Parker Memorial Sunday school class will meet at the Methodist church annex tonight at 8 o'clock for their regular business and social meeting.

Friends will regret to learn that Mrs. Roy G. Colquhoun is a patient in the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic.

GIRLS ATTENDING USO DANCES MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY CHAPERON

Monroe is now experiencing a definite adjustment in its economical and social life to include the soldier and defense worker in its everyday pattern of living.

The USO club, located at 113-115 Catalpa street, has taken the responsibility to fill the needs in Monroe to provide a wholesome leisure time program for the service men stationed in Monroe.

One of the organizations which has done much to guarantee the success of the USO program is the Girls' Service organization, organized during the maneuvers of 1941 and since that time has grown to a membership of more than 250. The responsibility of this group is to provide dancing partners for the soldiers at the USO dances.

To build the organization to its present level, has considerable work and adherence to rules and regulations. The USO rules governing the Girls' Service organization are such that only the most desirable girls in the community pass the restrictions set down by the membership committee.

Following are the rules as they are sent to all applicants: No person shall be admitted under the age of eighteen. A girl can secure a badge by applying to the membership committee with the proper recommendations and qualifications and being approved by that group. Girls must not enter, nor leave the USO club with soldiers. Each girl attending a USO party will only be admitted if she is accompanied by a chaperon. If any of the USO rules are violated, the violator will be requested to relinquish her badge.

A USO badge is subject to withdrawal at such time as a girl's behavior is unbecoming to the organization. In case of out-of-town guests, her hostess shall call the membership committee, and if she meets the requirements she may receive a card for that occasion, providing her hostess is a USO hostess.

A membership committee unknown to all except the chairman of the Girls' Service organization makes a complete investigation. This is, of course, for the protection of the girls and soldiers alike.

Every girl in Monroe and surrounding communities is invited to join the Girls' Service organization by applying to the USO director at the club rooms.

The young ladies of Monroe can render a real service to the community and to their country by joining the USO and by so doing will have the opportunity to enjoy the company of the finest group of soldiers coming to USO club rooms.

Mrs. John C. Theus, Jr., is chairman of the Girls' Service organization. Being alert at all times to satisfy the needs of the men in the service, the USO will sponsor a Music Appreciation Hour on Thursday night, October 8 at 8 p.m. in the USO club rooms.

At a meeting held last Friday the Music Appreciation Hour group organized and planned the program which is scheduled for Thursday night. All service men are invited to join this particular group while the citizens of Monroe are invited to attend the splendid recordings planned for not only the first meeting, but for all meetings in the future.

Private Frank of the 557 school squadron was chairman of the first meeting while the following were present: Nathan Wallfish, P. D., Private Albert A. Zimmer, 307 air force band, Private E. D. Rycelstrom, 557 school squadron and Miss Sybil Page Phelps. While the group is small at the present time, many more are expected to join by Thursday evening. Charles L. Juliana, director of USO, is working with the group and has made an appeal to the citizens of Monroe for assistance in promoting this worthwhile program. "We need sym-

STATE PRESIDENT

The presence of Mrs. Fagan Cox, president of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, will add considerable interest to the all day meeting of the Fifth district P-T. phonics recordings, a console for playing the records and interested folks to come forward and encourage these boys towards the satisfaction of some of the finer things of life."

The program for Thursday night is as follows: "Barber of Seville" by Rossini, "Nth Symphony" by Tchaikovsky, "Nutcracker Suite" by Tchaikovsky and "Roumanian Rhapsody" by Dukas. Private Zimmer, graduate of Penn State, Pennsylvania, a student of symphonies, will give a brief talk during the intermission.

The Ouachita Parish P-T. A. membership drive is taking place this week. All parents and teachers are being urged to show interest in the organization by becoming active members. The dues can be paid to Mrs. T. P. Brooks, treasurer, or Mrs. John Young, president. A silver loving cup will be presented by the Twin City P-T. A. council to the school having the greatest per cent of gain over the past year in membership. Ouachita parish P-T. A. is striving to have its membership doubled this year.

Mrs. William Bendel placed beautiful crimson roses in the living room of her home on Riverside when she entertained members of her Monday afternoon bridge club.

At the conclusion of the games linens were placed on the card tables for the serving of fruit and cake and a variety of confections.

Those present were: Mrs. Fredrick Millsaps, Mrs. Joseph Washburn, Mrs. Travis Oliver, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. Arthur Dryburgh, Mrs. Clyde Paine and Miss Eva Bradford.

Mrs. L. W. Mobley has returned from a visit of several months in the home of her sister in New London, Conn.

Miss Dorothy Steen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Steen of 1302 Park avenue, Monroe, has been pledged to the A. K. social club at Ward-Belmont school, Nashville, Tenn.

SAYS COLD WATER BAD FOR BATHING

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7.—(AP)—If you want to remain healthy this winter, even though shivering, drink cold water—don't bathe in it.

And if you're inclined to worry over the war, tire and gasoline rationing may help you ward off stomach ulcers.

That's the comment on current problems brought to the Southwest Clinical conference yesterday by Drs. Thomas E. Carmody of Denver and R. L. Saunders of Memphis.

"Never pass up a water fountain,"

Dr. Carmody said, "Take a drink. The average person should drink at least three quarts of fluid a day."

Dr. Carmody isn't very enthusiastic about cold baths for insuring the body to the 65 degree temperatures recommended for homes this winter. He prefers to bathe tepidly, himself.

And as for the tire and gasoline rationing vs. stomach ulcers, here's Dr. Saunders' theory:

While civilians may worry more over the war and kindred events, they'll have to spend more time at home where they'll get proper food and rest.

There'll be less opportunity to get out to cocktail parties and other functions where the guests miss out on sleep and consume large amounts of alcohol, tobacco and highly seasoned foods, all contributing factors to the development of ulcers.

Despite this counterbalancing benefit, he expects a large increase in such ailments in the next five years. It's a direct result of wartime tension.

FARMERS MAY MAKE LOAN APPLICATIONS

George D. McKnight, who is located in the Agriculture building, West Monroe, states that seed loan applications may make their 1943 applications at present and farmers will be advanced from this loan the amount necessary to purchase seed for planting of winter cover crops.

Emergency crop and feed loans with a maximum of $400 to one person are available to all farmers who can establish eligibility, not just to selected applicants, and are not restricted in any area by regional or other allocations.

Mr. McKnight said that he has perfected a setup for taking applications in the parishes of Ouachita, Caldwell and Franklin.

Ingenuity Misapplied

If some of the ingenuity now being applied to evading and avoiding wartime restrictions could be concentrated against the Axis, our progress toward peace could be expedited.

Few of us are so removed from the rush of affairs that we do not know of at least a few stratagems by which the intent of war regulations is given the run-around.

For example, an apparently reliable story is circulating in Washington about how some landlords are beating the rent ceiling. A house, let's say, is supposed to rent for $75 a month. But residences in the nation's capital are worth almost their weight in fine gold, and the owner is not satisfied with the ceiling income.

What does he do? He "sells" the house for $125 down and $125 a month, with an understanding that when the "buyer" is through he will default on payments and permit the house to revert to the "seller."

This isn't just a sharp business trick. It is deliberate violation of a necessary and proper regulation, designed to protect literally hundreds of thousands of new government employees against gouging.

Washington is so packed that another sharp worker—quite legally, it appears—took over a two-story brick warehouse, on which the normal rental would be not more than $420 a month, and is renting to 140 soldiers at $20 a month each. For this the soldier gets the use of a cot, plus one foot clearance on each side, plus use of a study table and toilet facilities—but no screens and, thus far, no evidence of heating equipment for the approaching winter.

A manufacturer found his contracts with a navy yard banned because the WPB forbade use of steel for his product. But his competitors took over the business and filled the orders.

They did it quite legally, merely by changing the name of the equipment to something not covered by the WPB's ban.

"The moment any restrictive regulation appears," says this manufacturer, "the lawyers are called in to see how to get around it and keep in business. The factory whose lawyer gets the answer first has the jump on its competitors."

These aren't isolated incidents. They are typical. Almost anybody who gets around can substitute his own observations for these three.

Apparently there still are many who do not comprehend that this is total war—that we can not tolerate any obstructionism for private benefit if we are going to win.

Official agencies, with all their faults, are trying sincerely to enforce the necessary wartime restrictions. With all the bureaucracy they are creating, these agencies cannot see all, know all, do all.

The final curb upon individual chiseling must come through the unrelenting pressure of public intolerance.

Manhattan

NEW YORK—One of the first war casualties of the Times Square sector was the basement of a favorite drug store frequented by small fry of the acting fraternity. It was their habit to congregate there and dream up valiant parts over their ham sandwiches and coffee. Defense work and the drafts have so depleted the ranks of actors, however, that the basement has been closed and turned into a store room.

Bob Christenberry is an ex-marine and a hotel (Astor) manager. He has only one arm. This doesn't hinder his golf too much. In the recent New Jersey State Hotel association's tournament, Bob won with a 90. Try that with your right hand strapped behind you.

Joe E. Lewis emits a gag: "It isn't that I dislike (mayor) LaGuardia. . . It's just that I've got hay fever and am allergic to Little Flowers."

While we're on the subject of LaGuardia, it might be well to point out the similarity in appearance between the mayor and Comedian Lou Costello. They do say there's only one way to tell them apart—and that is to introduce yourself as a reporter. If he ignores you—he's LaGuardia.

This may confuse you a little, but it's what happens anyway. Several New York guard officers asked Governor Lehman's son, who is a lieutenant in the army (John is the name), why he refused his father's invitation to review several guard regiments along with Generals Ottummar, Brown, Herbst, and Ziegler. The lieutenant explained, "I'm not under my father's jurisdiction or command here."

"Do you mean your father as governor of New York, or as commander in chief of the guard, or as a parent?"

"All three of them," said the lieutenant. "My head chief at the moment is a guy named Roosevelt."

New York's greatest value in entertainment continues to be the 30-cent news reel theaters. Imagine having actual shots of attacks on convoys, of planes shot down, of flaming aircraft carriers at sea, of Commando raids.

Cardini, the magician, is noted for the multiple lit cigarette trick, which he invented. He smokes and throws away scores of cigarettes before your eyes, and the wonder is how does he get them lit. That, of course, is his secret. However, he told me this, "The toughest thing to do is to perform the cigarette trick at army camps or anywhere before soldiers. The kids just hate to see all those cigarettes wasted."

They're real cigarettes, too. Just before he went out at the State the other night he discovered he was out of cigarettes and his wife had to hurry out and purchase several packs.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7.—When a Hollywood studio signs a new player, it's always with flamboyant promises of the great things in store for him. Ironically, the player usually cools his heels in inferior roles until he's loaned to another studio.

Consider the current case of Philip Dorn, undoubtedly one of the year's best actors and most appealing personalities.

After a promising debut in a secondary role of "Escape," MGM destined him (in publicity releases) for "big things"—then shunted him into "B" pictures for two years.

Currently, Dorn is on loan to 20th Century-Fox, playing General Mihailovich in "Seventh Column"—a really outstanding part. The director, Lewis King, offers to bet his spare tire (in excellent condition) against a paltry $100 that Dorn will emerge a top-flight box office star.

Clark Gable, the greatest long-time draw in screen history, couldn't get a break at his contract studio, MGM, until he proved his worth on loan to Columbia for "It Happened One Night." Claudette Colbert, his co-star in that sensational hit, had likewise been adjudged a wash-out by her studio, Paramount. Laraine Day, Hedy Lamarr, John Wayne, Rosalind Russell, Olivia de Havilland, Dorothy Lamour, Irene Dunne and dozens of others traveled the same route to stardom.

There's an old adage about the prophet being without honor in his own country. Screen players should be able to appreciate its truth.

FIDLING:

When a glamour gal has a bad dream, it's probable, nightmare-ish theme
Is the awful suspicion
Her pet dietician
Has erred—and she's broad'n'ing her beam.

Here's a patriotic chuckle. When Bette Davis, who's been reported ill en route, trained in from the east the other way, the Warner Brothers studio doctor was sent to the station to meet her. No sooner had he returned to his office than his phone rang. One of the company heads wanted to know the state of Miss Davis' health. "For a sick woman," answered the medico dryly, "she seems to have plenty of vitamins. Five minutes after she got off the train, she sold me a $1,000 war bond."

TEN YEARS AGO IN HOLLYWOOD: Lilyan Tashman (Mrs. Edmund Lowe) was near death following an emergency appendectomy. . . . The movie, "Scarface," was barred from Italy because "it depicted Italians in a bad light." . . . Declaring that "he forced her to sleep on a hard couch when they had guests," Bobbe Arnst won a divorce from Johnny Weissmuller. . . . The Fredric Marches (Florence Eldridge) adopted a baby girl, naming her Penelope. . . . Charlie Chaplin suffered a nervous breakdown. . . . Miriam Hopkins was denying plans to divorce Austin Parker (but did). . . . Alan Dinehart sued his studio for salary being held in a divorce action by his former wife. . . . Garbo made newspaper headlines by refusing an invitation to dine with the Prince of Wales. . . . Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., was playing in a golf tournament in Japan the last. . . . Connie Bennett threatened suit because a fan magazine stated that she spent $250,000 a year on clothes.

Our Children
By ANGELO PATRI

BEGINNING TEACHER HAS HER PLACE
Teachers have beginnings just as all other professional workers, which, it would seem, is a fact quite overlooked by some supervisory authorities. Accustomed to the high standards of work set by experienced teachers, the well-seasoned supervisors, grown gray in the service, are uneasy before the work of the youthful ed teacher. In their hearts they know this child of the teaching art cannot possibly produce the artistic product of experience, but still—

We must give these youthful teachers their chance to learn and to grow. There is a place for them in the school, a place that cries out for their presence, and we must make room for them, encourage and direct and teach them until they, too, are experienced teachers.

Miss Jennie was ill and could no longer attend to her classroom duty. A year's rest was imperative. With much misgiving she decided to accept the physicians' decree and give up for the prescribed time. Somebody must take her place. In due course the substitute appeared. She was a shock, remembering Miss Jennie.

To begin with, she was little, and girlish. Miss Jennie was tall, majestically proportioned, gracious and dignified. There was authority in Miss Jennie's presence; there was frank friendliness in this young teacher. She looked at the work done by former pupils in Miss Jennie's classes, hung like trophies on the walls.

"Am I supposed to get work like that?" she asked in awe.

"No. You are supposed to get your kind of work, work that the pupils do in response to what you offer them. Just do your best."

Opening day the young teacher appeared, a huge package under each arm and a bulging briefcase suspended on one free finger. "I brought materials along. Couldn't take chances," said she brightly. The head of department looked in to see how things were getting along and was shocked.

"What are we going to do? She has them making necklaces of macaroni, all sorts of shapes, painted all sorts of colors. Yes, they're all busy, boys and girls. Imagine! Solly, you know Solly—poked fun at her and she ran her fingers through his curly mop and said, 'Listen, brother; maybe this is good fun for you but it's mighty important business for me. I have to make good here—or else. Understand?' Imagine. Oh, yes, he just grinned, went to work like the rest. They're working all right. But, macaroni necklaces!"

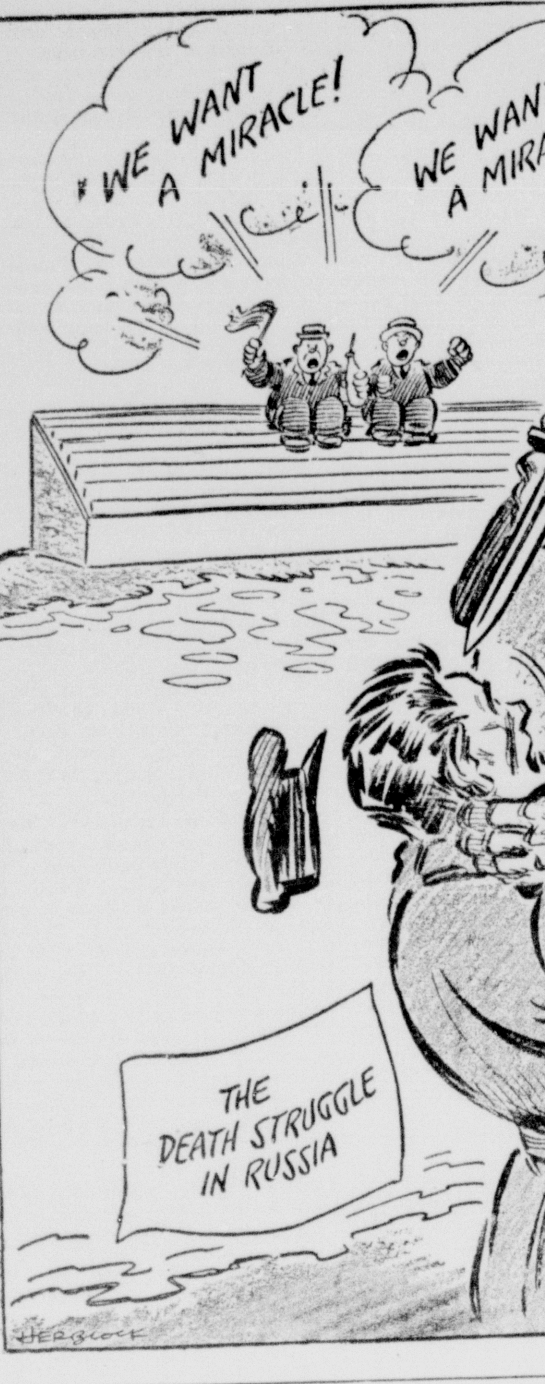

Well, she had to begin somewhere, so she began at the place she knew. She worked her way through her repertoire, making all the colorful things she had learned to make in the Training School, doing the drawings she had learned to do. They were not educational in the sense that they bore direct relations to the pupils making them, but they served to establish working relations and in time, the real work would begin, born of the relationship between the beginning teacher and the pupils.

Soon it was found that the cadet teacher was being most useful. It was she who volunteered to escort classes down stairs and so save steps for the older teachers. She went on the excursions gladly, and relieved the tired teachers. She could keep up with the energetic children, share with them in their fun where the older ones had forgotten how. There is a place for the beginning teacher in every school.

Washington In Wartime
By Jack Stinnett

EDITOR'S NOTE: Never before in a war have United States fighting men been granted so many legal benefits and economic protections. In three articles, Jack Stinnett, Washington correspondent for The Monroe News-Star, discusses many of the things Congress has done for the men in uniform.

WASHINGTON—Life for the fighting man of World War II is no downy couch. He has to be tough, tough and a smart jack of more trades than one. But he can go off to the wars knowing that never in history has Congress taken so many precautions to see that service men (and women) get so much in pay, legal protection, benefits for dependents and assurance of economic security when they come marching home.

Probably everybody knows that the service men's base pay now starts at $50 a month; that with the exception of a few grades in the Australian army, the United States soldier is the best paid in the world, receiving more than four times as much as a British soldier, 12 times as much as a Russian, and in the case of a private, 160 times as much as a Jap.

It hasn't been so widely publicized that noncommissioned officers and privates get a 20 per cent (and commissioned officers a 10 per cent) bonus for service overseas. That he gets an automatic 5 per cent raise every three years (that if he is a paratrooper, he gets $50 a month bonus; that there are also bonuses for flying soldiers and men in other hazardous branches; that the lowest private is reckoned by the army to be earning the civilian equivalent of $1,700 a year.

That doesn't take into consideration either what total or partial dependents get. It doesn't consider that one cent a mile (on round trip basis) that is deducted from his train fare while on furlough or the cash allowance he gets on his return for rations he didn't eat (42 to 56 cents a day).

The soldiers' and sailors' relief act of 1940 covers a lot. It authorizes the courts to stay execution of judgment and stay (or even vacate) attachments and garnishments against men in the service. It protects against the lapse of certain life insurance policies; against forced payment while in the service of too burdensome income taxes owed at the time of induction. It won't prevent the eviction of a man's family for nonpayment of rent, but it clears the way for staying that eviction for a while. Under some circumstances, it protects the man in service against sale of his properties for nonpayment of taxes.

By extending the statute of limitations on his debts by that length of time which he is in service, it relieves the creditors of being forced to take action on such debts while a man is in service.

In addition to all of that, Congress has provided that men in the service may take out insurance policies from $1,000 to $10,000, in multiples of $500. There is nothing compulsory about it. After a year they may be converted to 20-pay, 30-pay or ordinary life policies.

HALF HOLIDAY FOR SCRAP GATHERERS

The older boys of St. Matthew's school will be given an afternoon off Thursday to collect metal scrap in the present campaign.

They have been bringing in scrap to the school each day in large quantities and for their efforts they are to be rewarded by a Thursday half holiday but they will utilize it for the securing of more scrap.

Girls of the school, too, are aiding in every possible way. They are citting the boys to where old metal is to be found and in this way are performing a valuable service. The girls also are engaged in spare time in knitting sweaters for the armed forces.

A Promise for Tomorrow
BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Yesterday: It is one thing to be a successful doctor while looking like a debutante, Julie Hamilton finds, and quite another to be unable to do anything for the man you love. This is Pete Fowler, in Julie's case. Pete has had an accident in his plane, and is grounded for life. He is doing a great job in shipbuilding, but he wants to be with his Air Corps friends, and he seems also to want Julie to transfer her interest in him to Bart Rogers—and to have transferred his to Dawn Kelland.

Chapter Four
Closed Wings

AS she closed the big front door on the sound of Bart's car purring out of the drive, Julie noticed that the light was still on in her father's study.

Looping the soft fur coat over the banister, she called, "Dad, are you busy?"

"No. Come in," the big voice boomed, faintly.

Dr. Tom pulled off his glasses, put down his book, smiled at her. "Have a good time?"

She perched on the arm of his deep worn leather chair. "Fair." "Smatter?" He took hold of her chin, pulled her face around to look at him. "Not letting the practice of medicine destroy your sense of proportion, I hope? Parties and the play spirit are important, you know."

"I know, Dad. If I didn't, it wouldn't be because people hadn't been telling me! You're the third one today."

Dr. Tom grinned. "Then what is on your mind?"

She rubbed her cheek against his temple so he could not watch her face. "What are you so sure an operation wouldn't help Pete walk straight again?"

"So that's it!" He snorted impatiently. "Suppose you answer that question yourself, Doctor. You know the case as well as I do. Or you should. You've followed it closely enough."

"Because the shock to the nervous system already overstrained by the original accident, might counteract the success of relieving continued pressure on the affected parts," she recited slowly like a careful student. "But, Daddy," she went on, "don't you think if Pete knew there might just be a chance, even a slim chance, he'd want to take it?"

Dr. Tom slapped his book shut savagely. "I haven't a doubt but what he'd jump onto the operating table at once. The young fool."

"Then, shouldn't we—shouldn't you—"

"No we should not!" He turned to look at her.

"That boy's going to have national acclaim before this is over, I'm proud of him. He has reason to be proud of himself. Don't worry about young Fowler, girl."

She managed a smile as she turned toward him. "I suppose so. Still—"

She picked up the book her father had spilled to the floor. "Who is this Belgian?"

"Refugee. Had quite interesting experience in the last war. Lecturing now at some college in the southern part of the state. He's the best in his field that I've—"

Hurry Call

THE phone on the desk behind her rang jangled impatiently. Dr. Tom rose to answer.

Julie turned the pages of the closely printed convention report, found the name, Dr. Paul Le Meure. She must remember that. Perhaps his theories might justify her persistence in—

"What's that? Kelland, huh?" Julie glanced up, her attention snagged by the name.

"Right. Keep him quiet. I'll be right over."

Dr. Tom put down the phone, fitted his glasses into their case, slapped his pockets searchingly. "Now where did I put the car keys?"

"You can take mine. What's the matter at Kelland's?"

"Old Harry—fainting spell. Dawn says heart, maybe. He snorted, still searching his pockets. "Old Harry's heart's as strong as a steam engine. Now what the devil—"

15 Years Ago

October 7, 1927

At a mass meeting held at the courthouse in Rayville Friday, a resolution was passed unanimously by nearly 100 citizens of Rayville and Richland parish strongly condemning and denouncing interests fighting against the issuing of carbon black permits in this parish. The resolution also called upon citizens of the state to come to the defense of Richland parish. The resolution was scathing in its terms and indicated the resentment which people of the parish feel in the delay in the giving of a decision following application for such permit to be issued.

The Monroe L. B. Faulk American Legion post is to build a fine new home on Forsythe park, just west of the tennis courts and facing North Third street. The city commission has agreed to furnish the site for the building. Last night, at a well attended meeting, Legion men discussed the various sites and ended by unanimously voting in favor of the site at the head of North Third street. With 125 Legion men present, Commander Isaac Lemie called a meeting of the post and presented the matter of choice of a site. A careful discussion was had after which the final vote was taken.

PILOT CLUB HOLDS MEETING AT HOTEL

The Pilot Club met for its first meeting of October at Hotel Virginia, Wednesday at noon.

The program was in charge of Miss Lillian Johnson, who introduced Lieutenant George Eckel, public relations officer at the A. A. F. Navigation school.

He explained some of the details in connection with the operation of the big new air base.

PROTECTION OF FORESTS VITAL

Fire Wardens, Lookout Towers Part Of System Being Utilized

By R. E. Prestridge
(Louisiana District 3 Forester)

"This week being designated by the president as 'Fire Prevention Week,' it is urged that every possible precaution be taken to save our forests from fire. The utility of the forests is not confined to their value as logs or lumber after they are cut down; it is just as great when the trees remain rooted in the soil. Everyone recognizes the beauty of forests, every variety having its own special charm; and everyone realizes the protection which the sheltering trees give to flowers, to birds and wild animals. The economic value, however, is not evident on the surface, and for that reason, men did not discover it until a long time. In some instances until it was too late to remedy the damage done.

There is no way to keep our forests immune to fire, but we can keep fires from getting started and when they do start use every modern facility to put them out.

In order to find fires, while they are still small, lookout towers are built all through our forest country, so that the man inside can look over the top of the forest. Up there in a little glassed in room, he has before him a map of the locality oriented with the surrounding country over which he is looking. He locates a column of smoke by a movable bar on the map before him. The base of this bar is at the place where he is standing. He moves the far end of the bar until it points directly at the smoke. Notes the position of the bar in degrees and minutes, then telephones the nearest ranger. Usually some other lookout in the region has sighted the fire and phoned in its location to the post. The ranger knows that where the airlines from two widely separated towers cross is the place of the fire.

The Louisiana division of forestry has about 40 lookout towers and 435 wardens and rangers. These men are connected to the lookout towers by several hundred miles of telephone lines. There is at all times a man in each tower. After a fire is located, the towerman calls the warden by phone and gives him the exact location of the fire and the warden goes at once and remains until the fire is extinguished.

By the cooperation of the public in calling in or notifying any of the rangers, towermen or wardens, in case of a small fire, you can be a great help in saving forests for future generations. This cause should have the full support of every individual in the state, because the interest of each is definitely involved.

CALVARY BAPTISTS HOLDING REVIVAL

The revival services being held at Calvary Baptist church, Terminal Heights, is being well attended each night, states the pastor, Rev. I. J. Brooks.

The evangelist, Rev. B. A. Miley, of Arcadia, is bringing the message each night at 7:30 p.m. and special music is directed at all services by Dale Cobb, well known Monroe musician.

The message to be delivered by the evangelist Wednesday night will be on the subject: "Joy in Finding Lost Things." The subject for Thursday night will be: "The Gift of the Knees."

ACROBAT STARS

Laura Russ and Louise Russ (above) prepare to show their agility and prowess. They will be presented at the Kiwanis minstrel show to be given at the Neville High school auditorium, Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

MINSTREL SHOW IS MADE READY

Dress Rehearsal To Be Held; Performance Is Slated Thursday Night

The third annual Kiwanis minstrel dress rehearsal will be held Wednesday night at Neville High school auditorium for the performance Thursday night at 8:15 p.m.

Leo Spaeth, director of the minstrel for the John B. Rogers company stated last night that everything had been whipped into shape and he saw no reason why the performance tomorrow night should not be the best show he had ever directed.

The Monroe Kiwanians have been working hard for this annual event and advance reports on ticket sales show a splendid increase in attendance over the previous two performances.

The proceeds of this annual minstrel are devoted entirely to the underprivileged children's work of the Monroe club. This underprivileged children's work includes the furnishing of milk to many children in this section, of pre-school age, whose parents are not able to buy it regularly. Besides this many children's eyes are tested and glasses supplied through this fund.

Tickets for this minstrel may be purchased from any of the Kiwanians in Monroe or West Monroe and also may be purchased at the door Thursday night.

ATTENTION CALLED TO BOOT RATIONING

Farmers and workers in defense industries in Ouachita parish are having their attention directed to the rationing of men's rubber boots and rubber shoes, according to D. L. Borman, county agent. Because of the acute shortage of rubber, the office of price administration announces that not enough rubber boots and shoes can be supplied this year to everyone who wants to buy them.

The first objective in the rationing of rubber footwear, says those in charge, is to serve first the needs of the men who do not get their rubber footwear worn down so fast that it produces wear and tear. That would be a serious blow to America and to every United Nation.

In many places the number of workers who must wear rubber shoes and boots has increased. These men refine the oil that fuels the plane. They mine the coal that keeps the factory furnaces blazing. They farm, they fish, they pack meat to feed the world's greatest army. They do dozens of other important wartime jobs. It is to those that the rubber boots and shoes must go first, they say.

"If you are eligible to get some of these rationed rubber goods, then you should make application at your local War Price and Rationing board," said Mr. Borman. "You will have to turn in your worn-out rubber footwear to the place named on the certificate you will receive when you make application. You will then have to explain in detail why you must have a new pair of rubber footwear."

Complete arrangements have been made by the army for winter maintenance of the road. These plans include the construction of rest camps for the operators of truck convoys, barracks for engineer maintenance troops and adequate weather observation and telephone installations to serve the entire length of the highway. All necessary facilities, equipment and supplies to service the road and keep traffic moving are being provided.

The construction of the pioneer route through the virgin wilderness in such a short space of time constitutes an engineering feat by the army of first magnitude. It was not accomplished without physical hardships and privation on the part of the officers and men, but no handicaps of weather or terrain were sufficient to dampen the enthusiasm of the troops or retard progress. Aside from the endurance and efficiency of the force, among whom a large detachment of negro troops, acquitted themselves with special distinction, three main factors contributed to the speed with which construction has been carried on.

The first of these was the procedure of initiating construction at various points along the route at the same time, by transporting crews and equipment to strategic locations in March, before the spring break-up of ice and snow made trails and rivers impassable.

The second was the employment of aerial surveys, followed by stereoscopic analysis of aerial photographs and the time-tested and traditional engineer method of ground reconnaissance on foot, with pack-horse and dog-train.

The third was the use of bulldozers, tractors and other types of heavy equipment, without which the record for speed and semi-permanent construction could not have been achieved. The primary road was actually established by the powerful bulldozers, which plowed through the forests of native spruce, jackpine and aspen as if through cornfields, uprooting and pushing trees laterally off a 100-foot cut, leaving the work of clearing to be handled by relatively small forces of men.

Timbers for the construction of bridges, trestles and other structures were felled by the troops and processed by sawmills on the site. Ferries for crossing the many turbulent creeks and streams were improvised of rafts and pontoons. At one major crossing a large scow was built from forest lumber capable of transporting equipment weighing 40 tons.

MINING OF GOLD MAY BE STOPPED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(P)—Discontinuation of gold mining was expected today to be ordered by the War Production Board to divert the miners and some equipment to the non-ferrous mines producing more urgently needed metals for the war effort.

A WPB spokesman, declining to be quoted by name, said last night the board decided to take action soon terminating gold production probably in a month or two. Skeleton crews will be permitted to stand by, he added, to prevent flooding or other damage to the mines.

Senator Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, said he and other western senators had opposed the move but was told that while the decision was made "reluctantly," action was necessary to relieve a critical labor situation in the non-ferrous metal mines.

In Colorado, Governor Ralph L. Carr declared "our people will do anything to support and equip our men in all theaters of war" but urged government repayment in part for "the losses they will experience and for the suffering they will endure" through closing of the mines.

TULANE 'SCHEDULED' TO LOSE TO RICE SATURDAY

FOOTBALL DOPE MAY BE ONE TO TAKE BEATING

Green Wave In Right Mental Condition To Take Owls Apart

By Dick Hawkins
ATLANTA, Oct. 7. (AP)—Tulane's Green Wave, fairly dubbing at the seams after a sound drubbing by Auburn's Tigers last week, is scheduled for another kicking around Saturday when Rice invades the city of good and fun.

The word "scheduled" is used in reference to the football dope which would take its own beating in that Tulane-Rice scramble.

Despite the lamentations of Coach Monk Simons, the Wave is in the right mental condition to take the Tigers apart. While the Auburn victory last week was not precisely an upset, the Tigers did not figure to double the Tulane score and last year's defeat in the hands of Rice will not serve to still the inner urge of the Greens.

Conversely, the Owls reached some kind of a peak last week in beating S. U. and a long train trip will not do them any good. The battle has the makings of a ding-dong affair.

Coach Frank Neely of the Owls admits under protest that his charges did pretty well against L. S. U. although they were ragged in spots, especially in the second quarter. He may be sounding the pitch of the game, however, when he says, "I expect Tulane to be double toughed out by the Auburn loss. Also our 10-9 upset of the Greens last year won't make them feel any more kindly."

Except for Captain Bob Tresch, still suffering from an injured knee, and Jim Hall, blocking back, with a hip injury, the Owls are in top shape at this writing.

Lawrence Rice, prospective all-American center who returned to the Wave shortly before the Auburn game, will be in better condition for the big blow as possible.

Ragged tackling marked the Tulane effort last week and much emphasis is being placed on that department in practice.

About 30,000 customers are expected to match last week's crowd.

Unless Chattanooga's Moccasins strike too viciously at Grant field in Atlanta Saturday, Coach Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech will give his second string linemen a chance to get some game experience—something he need not do against Auburn and Notre Dame.

Alexander has no intention of giving his varsity line a complete rest but lack of capable reserves for his first string wall has caused the old man of the flats a lot of uncomfortable moments and only game experience will develop the second stringers.

To quote Backfield Coach Blodgett, "There really isn't any second string backfield at Tech."

We have about 10 men back there and we seem all pretty much alike. A statement that both Auburn and Notre Dame will support. Probably all will be service Saturday.

Chattanooga's 51-7 shelling of Maryville (Tenn.) last week puts the Moccasins on notice that the Moccasins' score and too much over-confidence might reward the conquerors of Notre Dame with a surprise.

Coach A. C. (Scrappy) Moore reflected the spirit of the Moccasins when he said, "I believe we will give them a pretty good game although Tech has a tougher game for us than Auburn by a long shot and I believe we're in much better shape to take it. Anyway we'll give 'em a fight."

The Tennesseans may not have the services of Guard Wanke Smallwood and Halfback Dick Brady, both of whom are down with injuries and are not expected to be in top condition Saturday.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
(Wide World Sports Columnist)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—While American soldiers are lend-lease baseball to the British and Australians (and causing them no end of confusion) we're getting a taste of rugby in return.

A team of Australian and New Zealand flying cadets will play a royal navy outfit as a preliminary to the Columbia-Brown game Saturday and two squads from the R. A. F. flying school at Ponca City, Okla., will put on an exhibition for Oklahoma City fans a week later.

Looks as if the football rules, frozen for the duration, will have to be defrosted. The new shift Dick Harlow uncovered at Harvard makes the current offside ruling look rather silly and Lou Little, head of the coaches' advisory committee, will ask to have it changed.

Race-horse experts point out that the ban on special trains to the tracks is making the horse players walk both ways—instead of just walking home.

Johnny On The Spot

A lot of guys would be willing to give the shirts off their backs to help win the war, but the Red's Johnny Vander Meer actually did it.

After pitching a benefit exhibition game by trying to play the Yankees, Johnny contributed the shirt of his baseball uniform to be raffled off.

It went to the day's biggest war bond buyer.

Play National Way

A couple of years ago our old man—a fair country baseball expert, you remember—told us: "These Yankees league clubs can't beat the Yankees by trying to play their game, but if they'll play National league ball, they can win."

Isn't that just about what the Cards did? . . . Lieutenant Commander Bill Reinhart, former George Washington U. athletic director, once recommended Stan Musial to the Yankees after he failed to get by the time a Yank scout arrived.

The Cardinals had signed him. When he spotted Scribe Herb Goren, who had been traveling with the Giants, Coach Earle Combs of the Yanks suggested, "maybe you could tell us how to pitch to Kuroski."

After that last inning Goren could have—four straight balls.

Week's Best Crack

After viewing that nudist infidel at Sportsman's Park, Goofy Gomez (who isn't) came up with this one: "A rolling ball on this diamond will gather no grass."

Service Department

Lieutenant Colonel "Cec" Merritt, Canada's first winner of the Victoria Cross in this war, used to be quite a rugby player in Vancouver and one story is that he once ran into the grandstand at top speed and shifted the whole thing six inches.

Former Pitt guard who played for the eastern army all stars in both the army and the navy. He was drafted after he had applied for a navy commission, which came through the other day, so now he's trying to change away the red tape and change uniforms.

One reason why you never heard of Bill Schatz and Bill Kolens, who have been starring for Bernie Bierman's Iowa Seawawks, is that both failed to pass Northwestern entrance requirements.

Dot's All, Brothers

Southern grid experts are boosting Buster Ramsey of W. and M. as one of the best guards they've seen in a long time. . . . Ed (Atlanta Journal) Danforth has authored a nifty magazine piece on "Who's who in the Fireball. Guess who it's about."

The young Armstrong-Earl Turner fight in Oakland, Calif., last week drew $21,442, one of the biggest gates in recent years. . . . The American Hockey league may give the receipts of its opening games to the Canadian and American Red Cross.

MOORE OFFERS NO ALIBIS FOR LOSS

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Coach Bernie Moore said Tuesday he has no use for alibis and would offer none for Louisiana State's 27-14 loss to Rice but declared that in another meeting between the teams L. S. U. likely would emerge the victor.

"Both Rice and L. S. U. are good strong offensive teams," Moore told the Bengals backs, "and in a series of six games we'd probably break even."

Moore expressed high respect for the caliber of the Texas Tiger team, the defending conference champion Mississippi State Maroons, and demonstrated as much by putting the Bengals through a stiff scrimmage Tuesday afternoon stressing both ground and aerial attacks.

Harold Heltcher, 183-pound junior wingback from New Orleans, was running on the first string as replacement for Steve Van Buren, while Woody Holland, senior end from Plain Dealing, La., was operating on the starting eleven in place of Dilton Richmond, wingman from Texas nursing a sprained wrist.

ARMED FORCES TO GET WORLD SERIES STARS

Baseball, Future Uncertain, Planning To Continue Another Season

By Judson Bailey

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The world series has come and everyone is wondering whether it has gone for a long lapse.

No one in baseball knows the answer, although all the major league clubs are going forward with preparations for next season. And the series just ended was as successful from every standpoint as any in history.

It certainly was the last for awhile for Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees, who already has enlisted in the navy and will report this week end, and for Enos (Country) Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals, who has been notified to report for induction into the army.

Many of the other players are going too, sooner or later. In general they are young, ranging from 25 to 35 years of age, and even though they are exempt now they realize that eventually they may be called.

Maybe it was because of this that they made the 1942 world series a classic that never will be forgotten by any one of the hundreds of thousands of fans who saw it, or the millions of persons, including soldiers and sailors all over the world, who heard and read the radio and newspaper descriptions.

Johnny Beazley, 23-year-old rookie right-hander from Nashville, Tenn., is planning to enlist in the marines, and it isn't taking much for granted to say that the marines will be glad to get him. He is rangy and strong and he proved his coolness under fire by the way that he subdued the Yankees twice in the series.

In the second game at St. Louis he was pelted for ten hits and Monday, in nailing down the final victory, 4 to 2, he was tagged for seven and came upon difficult moments in both games. But he worked out in jams under his own power in every case.

Whitey Kuroski, whose two-run homer in the ninth inning supplied the winning runs Monday, is another Cardinal rookie who may have been playing not only his first but his last series for some time.

The Reading, Pa., youth is married and the father of a few-months-old baby, but his draft classification is 1B. His right arm is short because about three inches of bone was moved after a childhood injury, but the army now is accepting some men previously deferred for physical reasons.

Terry Moore, the Cardinal captain and great centerfielder, has been in 2A because of dependents, but is not married and expects to enlist.

Buddy Hassett, first baseman of the Yanks, is in the same situation as Moore. Pitcher Red Ruffing, 38-year-old veteran who worked the first and last games of the series, is married but has no children. Some of the other Yankees who have one, or even two, children have talked of enlisting. One of these is Joe (Flash) Gordon, the star of the 1941 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers and the goat of the 1942 loss to the Redbirds.

The Cardinals, at least, will have glistening memories to take with them. This was the first series since 1915 that a team had lost the first game and then rebounded to win the next four in a row. The Boston Red Sox did it against the Philadelphia Phils the year before.

The Cardinals were not highly thought of by the Yankees right up till the final game, and maybe the ex-world champions still don't rate the Redbirds a great ball club, but they proved themselves a team that simply would not be beaten.

They finished every game, even the one they lost, with a greater show of strength than at the start. In five games the Cards totalled 12 runs during the seventh, eighth and ninth innings. Maybe that was the tipoff on the Cards—whether they were winning or losing they kept scoring in every game right up until the gong rang.

BOB MONTGOMERY UPSET VICTIM OF MAXIE SHAPIRO

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Maxie Shapiro, a wild-swinging Jew-baiter from New York, a 5-to-1 underdog in the betting, won a terrific upset 10-round decision over Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery before a crowd of 9,000 at the arena Tuesday night.

After battering Montgomery all around the ring in the third round, when the crowd shouted to Referee Benny Leonard to stop it, the swarthy New Yorker went on to gain a split decision in one of Philadelphia's most memorable fights.

The vote of Referee Leonard decided the scrap after the judges disagreed. Judge Eddie Loughran called it draw while Judge Frank Knaresborough voted for Shapiro.

Montgomery, regarded as the leading contender to Sammy Angott's lightweight championship, had a slight edge until Shapiro knocked him down three times in the third round.

Tribe Preps For Invasion Of Copiah-Lincoln Wolves

Bishop, Brown, Abraham Miss Workout Because Of Injuries, Illness

With the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves on tap for their position here this weekend, the Northeast Junior college Indians went through a hard and spirited workout yesterday in preparation for the invading rivals from Wesson, Miss.

Coach James L. Malone particularly stressed blocking in yesterday's drill, working his charges on the dummy and spirited running. A 35-minute game conditions scrimmage topped the day's work.

Injuries and illness claimed three performers who saw service against the L. S. U. varsity "B" team here last week, and their possibilities of playing against Copiah-Lincoln Saturday afternoon were uncertain last night.

Missing from action yesterday were Jack Bishop, stellar halfback; Clayton "Red" Brown, driving fullback; and Jim Abraham, reserve lineman. Brown claimed Bishop yesterday while Bishop and Abraham both limped around, missing the rough work, as the result of leg injuries.

Working in Bishop's place yesterday were Freshmen Jay Price and Olan Silk, the latter described as the fastest man on the squad. Silk, who has been "under wraps" thus far in the Indian campaign, is a former Rayville high school star and last year was rated one of the state's outstanding prep school backs. He will probably be in action for the first time Saturday.

The Indians yesterday worked with high morale, apparently working harder to offset last week's setback and determined to redeem themselves this week for the twin losses in their first two games of the year.

WOLVES BUSY

WESSON, Miss., Oct. 7.—(Special)—Coach Fecner Johnson drove the Copiah-Lincoln Wolf pack through a hard scrimmage Tuesday afternoon and ordered another helping of the same for Wednesday before taking his charges on an invasion of Louisiana to meet the Northeast Junior college of L. S. U. combination at Monroe.

Coach Johnson ordered heavy duty work for Wednesday with the declaration that he was not satisfied with Tuesday's work.

Just because this Louisiana outfit has lost two games while you were winning two is no reason to get over-confident," Coach Johnson told his Wolves. "Of course we will be out to take the Indians' scalp if we can, but we'll have to fight every inch of the way to turn the trick."

Sports Trail

By Whitney Martin
(Wide World Sports Columnist)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The last of a series, which left the impression that with all the talk of the Yankees' bad breaks, if they started all over again tomorrow their result would be practically the same.

That when the Cards' oldest player, Jimmy Brown, comes up with 10 thumbs in the clutch, and one of the youngest, Johnny Beazley, is as cool as a snub, the value of experience is greatly overestimated.

That there is nothing to the idea that Stan Musial's tumbling tactics in left field were due to the fact there wasn't used to playing on grass (there must be a few patches in the outfield at St. Louis).

That the guy who really pessed hardest was Charley Keller on his last trip to the plate. It was a home run or nothing for Charley (it was nothing).

That those who based the Cards' chances of winning a couple of games solely on Mort Cooper must feel a little silly (yeah, we do).

That the Cards were the home team in all five games. They had more support than the Yankees even in Yankee stadium.

That the really heroic figure of the series was Red Ruffing. He was so tired in the late innings of the last game he looked like a spinning top in his final wobbles. But he stayed in there pitching.

That there couldn't be a better series as far as friendly spirit and mutual respect shown by the rival teams is concerned. The umpires got all the abuse.

That the Yankees did when Joe Gordon was nipped off second in the ninth inning Monday. And if you were to pick one it would be the agile Gordon. For that reason the play looms more of a work of art. Walker Cooper is given most credit for his perfect throw. But it was a two-man job, and Martin Marion's part in taking the peg practically on Gordon's body was no cinch.

That the Cards will run for a base when they know a good throw would have them out by a mile. They gambled on the throw being a little off line, or on the fielder fumbling around for the ball trying to pick it up. It usually works.

That the alibi of the Yanks that their own stadium heat became their long his were caught in a little off line, or on the fielder fumbling around for the ball trying to pick it up. It usually works.

That we'd rather watch St. Louis play than any team we've ever seen, as you never know what it will do next (ask the Yankees).

TECH BULLDOGS WILL MEET BIG GREEN FRIDAY

West Virginia Team Will Invade Ruston; Charges Dissatisfy Aillet

By Judson Bailey

RUSTON, Oct. 7.—(Special)—Football players of Marshall college of Huntington, W. Va., who go by the name of the "Big Green," are billed for an intercollegiate game with the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs at Ruston on Friday night, October 9, at 8 o'clock.

While the boys from West Virginia are not personally acquainted here, they have stood in good repute in former years, at least, in a national way. For example, in 1940, the Big Green contributed to the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs at Ruston on Friday night, October 9, at 8 o'clock.

As the Techmen set out this week to establish ways and means of handling the Marshallites, Coach Joe Aillet still had his mind on the recent contest between the local Bulldogs and the Waco flyers in Shreveport, which, despite the top-rated 45-0 victory for Tech, didn't look any too sporty for the Techsters in spots, the Bulldog mentor opined.

"In fact," said Coach Aillet, "I was disgusted, except for the first seven or eight minutes of the third quarter, when our boys seemed to be doing very well."

"The game with the flyers was costly, particularly since we have lost Halfback Pearce Didier because of a torn knee ligament. Didier was hurt by one of his own men, however," Coach Aillet pointed out.

Captain Johnny Peritt, although playing but little in the Shreveport game, suffered re-injury.

"Because of these damages, and for rewards for good work against the army flyers, there will be some changes made in the starting lineup against the Marshall college eleven."

Raymond Peace will be shifted to left halfback from right halfback and Talmadge Foreman, the coach stated, will be shifted to the line.

Captain Martin, sophomore tackle, who started against the flyers owing to Lucian Conway's injury, is likely to give Conway a hard time to come back, Coach Aillet indicated.

George Liles, sophomore guard, has advanced to the second team and is pushing the first-string Alternate Captain Frank Bishop, the coach declared.

Charlie Newman, sophomore end, and Jim Allen, junior center, "came through with their usual good performances" in the contest at Shreveport, according to Coach Aillet, and Fullbacks D. E. Albritton, Eddie Harrelson and Mike Davey likewise were commended.

FENTON DEFEATS 'DUTCH' SCHULTZ

Mack Wins When Fraley Disqualified On Double Main Event Card

ROD Fenton, stocky Texan, and Farmer Mack, the Maine potato farmer, were the victors in last night's double main event mat program at the Monroe Wrestling arena. Fenton whipping Herbie (Dutch) Schultz and Mack winning over Mike Fraley when the latter was disqualified.

Both battles went three falls but on the whole they were about the fastest to go on here in some time.

The Mack-Fraley battle lasted a total of 21 riotous minutes with Mack winning the first heat in seven minutes, dropping the second in five minutes, and getting the third and deciding fall in nine minutes when the Nebraska had boy was disqualified for exceedingly rough tactics.

Bill Barney, northeast Louisiana amateur wrestling champion, who refereed the latter for disregarding warnings as he handed the farmer an unmerciful beating. Mack was practically helpless from fouls when Referee Barney stopped the match.

The Fenton-Schultz scrap, final on the program, was a wild affair, and Farmer Mack was called upon to act as third man in the ring. Mack is all right as a wrestler but he's not up to par as a referee, he felt as he rode him about as much as they rode him about the crowd having extended Fenton's favor.

By use of the ropes, an act Mack failed to see, Schultz managed to win the first fall in 13 minutes after slugging the Texan to the floor, clamping an inside toe hold on his victim and using the ropes to gain leverage.

Fenton came back fast, however, to take the second fall in five minutes and even the match. He caught Schultz with a flying mare, followed up with forearm slugs and blows with the fist that Mack missed, capped his attack with three well-placed drop kicks and then pinned the Dutchman's shoulders.

Schultz had the better of the third fall until the last minute when Mack, in pulling Schultz loose from an illegal hold, caused Schultz to fall heavily flat on his back in the middle of the ring and Fenton quickly came through with a full body cover to win the heat and the match in six minutes.

MISSISSIPPI STATE

STARKVILLE, Miss., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Still on the injured list, Tailback Bloddy Black saw no action in Macon practice Tuesday afternoon and may not be able to play much if any in Mississippi State's second conference game of the year Saturday night with Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

Elbert Corley, center, also stayed on the sidelines, but appeared in better condition and probably will be ready for the Tiger game. Tailback Billy Murphy ran with the first backfield Tuesday, and Eagle Matulich, sophomore tailback, with the second stringers.

Beazley Was Bush League Bust Until Pelicans Took Him

By Judson Bailey

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Johnny Beazley was about ready to quit baseball two years ago after three seasons as a bush leaguer whose back hurt every time he cut loose with his fast one.

"I took him to a doctor," Charles A. Hurth, business manager of the New Orleans Southern Association club related Tuesday, "and the doc said if he would have his tonsils out, he'd be fit as a fiddle."

That's just what he did, and the doc was right.

"I got my biggest baseball thrill," said ex-boss Hurth, "as I sat in St. Louis and watched that rookie beat the Yankees in the second game of the world series. When in trouble, ice water really flowed in his veins."

"Then I got my second biggest thrill Monday as he polished off New York again to clinch the world series for the Cardinals. It was some performance for a major league freshman."

Beazley, now 23, started with Lexington in the Kitty league in 1937, but was unimpressive in two victories and five defeats. The next year he went to Greenville, Miss., in the Cotton States loop where he won two and lost four before finishing at Abbeville, La., in the Class D Evangeline circuit.

The big right hander lost six and won eight at Abbeville and then was taken on by New Orleans in 1939, but went back to his Nashville, Tenn., home with a sore back—out all season.

This is where Hurth, who picked him up for a song, stepped in. Beazley came back from his operation to win 16 and lose 12 for New Orleans, with an earned run average of 3.61 last season.

The Cardinals grabbed him. And they were right, too.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.—Ray Brown, 130, Chicago, outpointed Vic Corchado, 128, Puerto Rico (10).

BANGOR, Me.—Carl McFadden, 154, Bangor, won by technical knockout over Eddie Hall, 159, Los Angeles (4).

PORTLAND, Me.—Johnny Morris, 161, Yonkers, N. Y., knocked out Earl Robbins, 158 1-2, Portland (6).

PHILADELPHIA—Maxie Shapiro, 134 3-4, New York, outpointed Bob Montgomery, 135, Philadelphia (10).

CHISOX WIN SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The White Sox won the Chicago city series for the eighth straight time Tuesday night when Johnny Humphries held the Cubs to five hits and the American leaguers took a 4-to-1 victory, their fourth in six games.

Professors in the early European universities were hired by the students.

Beasley Would Rather Face Yankees Than Frantic St. Louis Crowd

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—(AP)—An estimated 25,000 wildly cheering baseball fans jammed in and around Union station late Tuesday to welcome home the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, who went to New York to the underdogs last week. . . . Well, you know what they did to the Yankees in the last four games of the world series.

A hand struck up "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here," as the players stepped off the train. This began a victory celebration—the sixth since 1926—which lasted almost an hour.

Johnny Hopp, first baseman, was the first player to step off the train and he was swarmed on by so many noisy worshipers that the other players paused to look around before risking it.

A tremendous burst of applause greeted young Johnny Beasley, who pitched the Cardinals to their first and last victory. Wiping confetti from his mouth he said "I'd rather face the Yankees than this crowd." Several other players voiced a similar opinion but all were obviously overjoyed at the reception.

On hand to greet the players were Governor Forrest C. Donnell and Mayor William De Becker, who read a telegram of congratulations from Mayor LaGuardia of New York.

In line with the recent transportation order, the team did not travel from New York in special railroad cars as is customary. Instead each player rode on an individual ticket anywhere he could find a seat. Most of them traveled in the same car, however.

Manager Billy (The Kid) Southworth, who partisan fans are boasting for the presidency, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced each player as "one of my boys."

"They are all stars in my book," he said. "We beat them (the Yankees) decisively and we beat them without making a single complaint during the series." The applause at this point rocked the station.

"They are a great ball club and we showed the world St. Louis has something else out here besides a zoo and the river."

Add hospital notes: That dull thud still echoing in Alabama was Coach Frank Thomas swooning upon reading the Sunday football scores posted by Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt.

Minute meditation: Wirt Gammon, sports editor of the Chattanooga Times, pauses to wonder whether Fordham's misfortune at Knoxville indicates that the Rams are not accustomed to football in the rough.

NOTRE DAME'S GRID TROUBLE BLAMED ON 'T'

But Maybe It's Failure Of Personnel, Not Switch From Rockne System

By Charles Chamberlain

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Frank Leahy, who won the 1941 acclaim as coach of the year by piloting Notre Dame to an undefeated season, has a tie game and a defeat hanging over his head this fall after changing to the T-formation.

The faithful followers with sentimental attachment to the Notre Dame system of Knute Rockne heritage, have started to say: "I told you so."

Perhaps it wasn't the T, but the personnel, that failed against Georgia Tech last week for Notre Dame's first defeat in 11 games.

If Owen (Dippy) Evans, the team's best ground gainer and scorer last fall, overcomes a knee injury that has kept him inactive since September 5, Notre Dame may start clicking against Stanford Saturday.

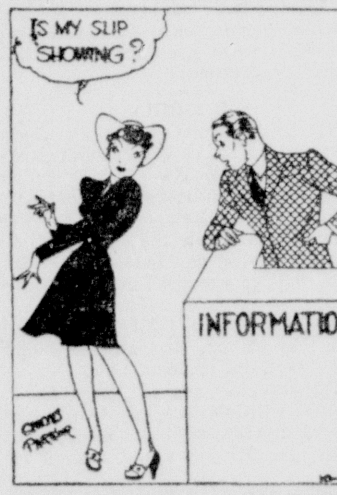

There's nothing so wrong with the T that victories won't cure.

One reason for Leahy's bold decision to junk the hippy-hop of the old system and turn to the T was Evans' talent. More widely publicized, though, was the influence exerted by Angelo Bertelli, the 1941 sophomore passer. His limitations as a runner and blocker did not meet requirements of the Notre Dame system. But he fitted admirably into the ball feeder quarterback role of the T.

Running from the left halfback slot, Evans' part in the Leahy pattern was to explode on quick opening plays behind the blocking of Guard Bob Dove, Tackle Lou Rymkus and either John Zilly or John Yonakor, ends.

MOPSY

By GLADYS PARKER

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE

Working with Evans was to be Creighton Miller at right half and Sophomore Jerry Cowhig at fullback.

In succession, Leahy lost Evans by injury and Zilly by ineptitude. Yonakor, a freshman flash, failed to show as a sophomore, forcing the return of Dove to left end. Miller was handicapped with a sprained ankle and played only part time. Cowhig also was injured and played only a few minutes. The entire set-up was thrown out of balance.

Observers say the ideal conditions conceived by Leahy never can be attained until Yonakor approximates his promise, Evans recuperates and resumes his speed of last year, and Cowhig and Miller fully recover from their hurts.

Saturday's game with Stanford, which put the "T" in the college football alphabet, brings Leahy face to face with his 1929 Notre Dame teammate, Marchie Schwartz, who succeeds Clark Shaughnessy as head football coach.

NUTRITION PROGRAM IS ADVANCED HERE

Quachita parish is helping to wipe out the evil of malnutrition through its Community School Lunch programs which are now getting under way.

"The Agricultural Marketing administration assures sponsors steady supplies of evaporated milk, one or more dried fruits, wheat cereal, wheat flour, and dry edible beans for school lunches this year," L. G. Hughes, area supervisor, said. "Sponsors may be reasonably certain of steady supplies of one or more additional dairy products, cereal products, potatoes, eggs, as well as a number of other commodities will also be available from time to time."

Records show over 9 million American children are suffering from undernourishment. This number will rise as the war goes on unless something is done. The Agricultural Marketing administration is ready to furnish basic foods for lunches for every one of these malnourished children. It is up to local sponsors to see that the lunches are prepared and served.

HARVEST DAY IS SET FOR SUNDAY

Fall Donations For Orphanage Will Be Taken In Methodist Churches

"Harvest Day" will be observed Sunday by all Methodist churches in Louisiana. It is the day when cash contributions will be received for the Ruston orphanage which is supported entirely by voluntary offerings received in the spring and fall from all churches of the state of this denomination.

This year the need is greater than ever as the orphanage has suffered loss by the destruction by lightning and fire of its large dairy barn and also because of higher living costs it will entail greater expenditure to operate the institution.

Bishop A. Frank Smith has expressed the situation in an open letter which is as follows:

"We have come to another Harvest Day occasion in the Louisiana conference. There are many reasons why this year's offering should be the largest ever made to our children's home. First: The home suffered a destructive loss of its huge barn, which had to be replaced immediately. Insurance never covers such a loss. For this reason the need of the home is greater than usual.

"Second: Money is flowing in Louisiana in unprecedented volume. The construction work in connection with army projects and defense activities are employing tens of thousands of people, a fair percentage of whom are Methodists. In addition, our farmers, stockmen and lumbermen are in better shape than they have been for years. This increased income should be reflected in our gifts to the home.

"Third: We ought to give liberally to the home this year through sheer gratitude unto God and to reveal our Christian interest in helpless children in a world of which a large part is in the grip of ruthless madness, and in which children have no chance. Count your blessings on Harvest Day—and give accordingly."

Rev. C. B. White, orphanage superintendent, explains the present enrollment. He states that the normal enrollment of the home has been 170, and that there was a time when nearly 200 children were cared for. This, however, produced an overcrowded condition. The new law of licensing institutions has required that numbers be reduced as every child has to have a single bed. With installation of single beds so much more space is required that the enrollment has been cut to 140 which will comprise the normal number from now on.

FOUR SONS IN ARMY
W. T. Stevenson of 318 North Third street, Monroe, has enlisted in the United States army and left for Shreveport where he will be given final examination. W. T. is the fourth and last son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Stevenson. In addition to W. T., Earl is in the air corps, at Scott field, Illinois; Karl is in the quartermaster corps at Camp Claiborne; and Carl is in the balloon corps, at Camp Tyson, Tenn.

FIRE AT GIN
Five trucks were called to the People's Gin, Washington road, at 7:23 Tuesday night to extinguish a fire started when cottonseed hulls were ignited by exhaust from a motor. The fire in the trash pile was put out before serious damage could be done.

FRED WILLIAMSON SLIGHTLY BETTER

Monroe friends of Fred Williamson, associate agricultural extension editor at Louisiana State University, formerly managing editor of the Monroe News-Star and Morning World, have been informed that he is slowly improving in the Lady of the Lake Hospital, Baton Rouge, from a slight stroke of paralysis.

He was taken to the hospital September 29 suffering from the stroke which affected his right side, including the arm and leg, but did not materially affect facial or speech muscles. He is now reported to be recovering in slight degree the use of muscles but the physician in charge states that it will be several days before he will be able to sit up.

Strenuous work at the university coupled with war time activities are believed to be responsible for the illness, but hope is held out for his recovery.

Authorized absence from duty in the United States navy for any period less than 48 hours is known as "liberty." Absence authorized for a period longer than 48 hours is known as "leave."

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on discomfort after meals, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given Laxative-Senna in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable to a touchy stomach. So be sure your Laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative-Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative-Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this Laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family Laxative. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative-Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin, as directed on label or as your doctor advises, and feel your stomach better. Get genuine Dr. Caldwell's.

23 INDICTED BY U. S. JURY HERE

31 Bills Are Handed Down In Partial Report; Three Involve Draft

A total of 31 indictments involving 23 persons were returned here yesterday in a partial report by the federal grand jury, and Judge Ben C. Dawkins set arraignment of the defendants indicted for today in the United States district court in the post office building here.

Indicted for violation of the selective service act were Douglas Benjamin McNery of Monroe, Otis Lane, Jim Green and Alex Taylor. Lane is also known by such aliases as Jimmy Lane, Jimmie Love, James Love and Otis Collins, government officials declared.

Ten persons were indicted for alleged violations of the Dyer act, interstate transportation of stolen automobiles. Two of that number were also indicted on Mann white slave traffic charges and attempted escape and conspiracy. One other was included in the conspiracy to escape indictment.

Three, indicted for violation of the Dyer act, were accused of Mann act violations, and three other persons face Mann act charges only.

The additional indictments were as follows:
Dyer act: Louis James Fleming, charged with driving a stolen car from Mt. Pleasant, Tex., to Shreveport on July 5; Homer Alex Odell, alias Bob Clay, alias Billy Joe Priest, alias Pink O'Kelly, and Herbert Cecil Pool, Jr., alias Tom O'Kelly, who allegedly brought a stolen car from Dallas, Tex., to Monroe; Joseph Howard Hunt, charged with transportation of a stolen car from Galveston, Tex., to Shreveport; Steve Edward Bonnie, Hulan Cecil Rutledge, Ida Juanita Stewart and Annie May White, all accused of driving a stolen car from Hobbs, N. M., to Bastrop; Jack L. Chelf, alias Jack Loid Peele, charged with driving a stolen car from Washington, D. C., to Alexandria; and Lawrence Junior Talley, who is charged with driving a stolen car from Bastrop to Jackson, Miss.

Mann act: Elton Cecil Word and Patricia Retha Womack; John L. Chelf and Ruby Mae Marsh; alias Lois Williams; Steve Edward Bonnie, Hulan Cecil Rutledge, Ida Juanita Stewart and Annie May White.

For attempted escape and conspiracy: Steve Edward Bonnie, Hulan Cecil Rutledge and Homer Alex Odell.

For violation of the liquor traffic act: Bill Roberson, alias Willie Roberson, alias Son Roberson, and John C. Flowers, Ezra Boatner, O. W. Skinner, Recie Criner and Pete Hayward.

Judge Ben C. Dawkins presided during the first two days of federal court and will be on the bench again today. Judge Gaston L. Portier arrived in Monroe yesterday and will serve if necessary during the course of the spring term.

Aviation Cadet John C. FEMININE ENSIGN

Ensign Lena Fowler (above), former trained nurse who received her training at the Southern Baptist Nursing school in New Orleans, entered the navy last January and is now stationed at the naval base hospital in Norfolk, Va., is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fowler, of Oak Grove, La. She formerly lived in Monroe. She is having a 10-day furlough and is spending it in Oak Grove and Monroe. Graduate nurses are said to be active service with the armed forces and she urges those willing to complete a year of service in Norfolk to enlist at once. She expects to complete a year of service in Norfolk after which she may be sent almost anywhere on the globe that the service may call her.

HOUSING SITUATION HERE GROWS WORSE

George Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in stressing the absolute necessity of providing additional apartments in the Monroe area for defense housing, said Wednesday that the popular belief that only $500 or less may be spent on house renovation was false. Any amount necessary may be spent, with only the limitation that no more than $100 of critical materials may be used in any one room.

Mr. Holland stated that, instead of improving, the housing situation in Monroe has been growing progressively worse. To accommodate the steadily growing population of the community, 250 additional apartments are needed in Monroe and West Monroe.

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce made a visual survey of Monroe and listed 150 older type houses which are apparently badly deteriorated and consequently low revenue-producing. Owners of this type of house are urged to give consideration to the possibilities of renovation. By painting, redecoration and addition of a minimum of plumbing facilities, these houses can be made attractive and revenue-bearing.

All lumber companies in Monroe are equipped to give prompt service on renovation projects. Priorities on needed materials can be secured in four or five days time.

Any information in regard to the renovation program can be secured by calling the Chamber of Commerce office, Mr. Holland stated.

NEWS BRIEFS

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS—Prescott Foster, chairman of the state highway department, announced he had issued orders to dismantle about 150 unused iron and bronze light standards on the Maestri bridge over Lake Pontchartrain. They will be turned in for scrap.

NEW ORLEANS—"A notice in the paper," asking farmers and children to bring their scrap to him, started 11-year-old Warren Breaux of Gueydan toward the collection of 800,000 pounds of scrap.

"They did," he told several thousand New Orleans school children, "and I told the dealers when I had a lot, and they came and got it. And the farmers and children brought bonds and stamps with the money. And that's all there was to it."

WASHINGTON—Ensign John B. Bain of Belzoni, Miss., was among 12 naval pilots awarded crosses or gold stars today for heroic actions in the battle of the Coral sea.

Bain's citation reads:
"For utter disregard of his personal safety and extraordinary heroism as pilot of a fighter plane on May 7 and 8 in action against Japanese forces in the battle of the Coral sea. With an accurate understanding of his objective and bold perseverance in attaining it, he destroyed one Japanese fighter plane and courageously attacked several others. His high devotion to duty in the performance of a dangerous and difficult task contributed measurably to the defense of our forces and was in keeping with the highest traditions of the naval service."

M'COMB—Accidental discharge of a shotgun as he was crawling through a fence while hunting yesterday killed Otis Burton Smith, 29-year-old soldier home on furlough from Camp Shelby.

NEW ORLEANS—A 300-pound anvil was offered here for the scrap drive—provided the government could get it back from the person who purchased it from a man to whom the would-be donor lent it.

BATON ROUGE—President C. B. Hodges of Louisiana State university announced that Dean J. G. Lee, Jr., of the college of agriculture had been reappointed to the advisory committee on inter-American cooperation in agricultural education for the United States state department.

BATON ROUGE—A two per cent drop in business activity in Louisiana in August, compared with July, was reported in the preliminary index prepared by the Louisiana State university bureau of business research. However, August business was almost 30 per cent above last year.

BATON ROUGE—An iron cross and three other decorations won in action with the German army in the first World war were given to the scrap drive by Leo Sternberg, a Jewish refugee, who said he hoped they would "go into a bullet to hit Hitler."

NEW ORLEANS—Ralph Nicholson, publisher of the New Orleans Item, told the Kiwanis club that "the policy of newspapers today is to print all the news that it is safe to print."

He said newspapers had put winning of the war above all else, and were devoting much space to work of defense agencies and to war drives.

NEW ORLEANS—Mark Bartlett, acting state administrator, announced Louisiana citizens bought $10,606,679 worth of war bonds, purchase price, in September—28 per cent more than their quota.

He said Rapides, Tangipahoa, Plaquemines and Jefferson were among the parishes exceeding their quotas.

The total included the New Orleans record $4,600,000 bond breakfast, and the Lake Charles bond breakfast at which a half million dollars was raised for a national per capita record.

SHREVEPORT—A 25-inch bust of Pierre Laval, French "collaborator," was tossed into a scrap pile here by a local resident who declined to identify himself.

SHREVEPORT — Twelve-year-old Jimmie Huff, a high school fullback, is a scrap drive casualty. His foot was broken when schoolmates dropped a porch ladder they were carrying to a scrap heap.

WASHINGTON—A bill introduced by Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, would extend benefits of legislation for veterans of the first World war to the veterans of the present conflict.
